Abstract

Sophie is a music drama that follows a young retired theatre actress as she talks to reporters about her family and career. As the story unfolds Sophie's life transforms from a cheerful illusion to a brutal reality where nothing is as it seems. The listener gets a first row seat to the innermost corners of the protagonist's mind as she journeys through self awareness. The music transforms from the modal center of the Lydian scale to the more chromatic and diminished tones of the Octatonic scale. Each character's theme undergoes alterations from the pitch center that portrays stability to the one that creates unsteadiness in the character. But this instability comes not from a fall to madness, but rather from the uncovering of the truth. As Sophie becomes saner she falls apart.

Program Notes

The set should be relatively simple: a mirror on stage right and maybe a couch or a chair. A blanket should be available for Scene 5 – The Baby. Sophie will be talking to the audience as if they are reporters until the reporters disappear on Scene 7 – Lizzy’s Ghost. At the end of Scene 8 – The End the lights should come off as soon as Sophie says “Welcome.”

The texts in boxes are spoken at any speed making sure that it falls within the bars indicated. When the box is in a bar with fermatas the Conductor must wait for the Soprano to finish her speech before the orchestra plays again.

The scenes are meant to be performed one after the other with no stop until the end.

Stage directions are indicated in italics and bold.

Accidentals carry through the bar.

Score is transposing.

Approximate Duration: 25 minutes.

Scene 1 - The Theatre

Vivace ♩ = 80

The musical score is arranged in a standard orchestral format. It begins with a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and a 7/8 time signature. The tempo is marked 'Vivace' with a quarter note equal to 80 beats per minute. The score is divided into two systems. The first system includes parts for Flute, Clarinet in Bb, Bassoon, Horn in F, Trumpet in Bb, Trombone, Timpani, and Cymbals. The second system includes parts for Violin I, Violin II, Viola, Violoncello, and Double Bass. A vocal line for Sophie is also present in the first system. Dynamics are indicated by f (forte) and p (piano). The score features a variety of rhythmic patterns, including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. The overall mood is energetic and dramatic.

Detailed description: This page of a musical score covers measures 108 to 111. The key signature is three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and the time signature is 3/4. The score includes parts for Flute (Fl.), Clarinet (Cl.), Bassoon (Bsn.), Soloist (S. Solo), Violin I (Vln. I), Violin II (Vln. II), Viola (Vla.), Violoncello (Vc.), and Double Bass (Db.).
- Flute, Clarinet, and Bassoon: Each has a single note (F#) in measure 109, marked mf.
- Soloist: Starts in measure 108 with a forte (f) melody. The lyrics are "Oh, how I loved the The-a - tre, And Oh, how the". There is a triplet of eighth notes in measure 109.
- Violins I and II, Viola, and Violoncello: These instruments play a similar melodic line, starting with a forte (f) dynamic in measure 108, tapering to mezzo-piano (mp) in measure 109, and then moving to mezzo-forte (mf) in measure 110.
- Double Bass: Remains silent in measures 108 and 109, then plays a single note (F#) in measure 110, marked mf.
