

Western Undergraduate Summer Research Internship 2021

Interdisciplinary development initiative : Emerging team initiative to reduce inequities in maternal and child lifestyle health

Performed an environmental scan of the Faculty of HSc and other Western faculties, Brescia University College, and Research Institutes at Western as well as community agencies and end users relating to maternal child lifestyle health relating to maternal child lifestyle health relating to maternal and child lifestyle

- Examined research portfolios of scholars at the mentioned faculties and institutes to identify their research interests
- Created a scoring system to distinguish the level of interest between possible participants
- Reached out through an introductory email to examine the interest of candidates
- Produced a spreadsheet outlining the responses received from candidates

Additional Projects

Modified thesis project results with the help of lab consultant to be published in a scientific journal

Assisted in data entry and analysis of the Nutrition and Exercise Lifestyle Intervention Program (NELIP) for pregnant and postpartum women

By: Rozhan Momen
Supervisor: Michelle Mottola