

Taking Stock of a Turbulent Decade and Looking Ahead: Immigration to North America 2000-2010

April 28 – 30, 2011 London, Ontario, Canada

To register and for more information: <http://ir.lib.uwo.ca/wmc>

An interdisciplinary conference organized by The Western Centre for Research on Migration and Ethnic Relations and The Canada-U.S. Institute, University of Western Ontario

Keynote Addresses by:

John Biles, Citizenship and Immigration Canada

Canadian Immigration, Integration and Diversity in the Early Years of the Twenty-First Century

Pia Orrenius, Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas

From Brawn to Brains: How Immigration Works for America

And Featuring Five Invited Panels:

The International Context of North American Migration: How Are We Faring in the International Sphere?

Sociocultural Aspects of North American Migration:

Immigrants and the Native Born

North American Immigration Policies and Politics in a Turbulent Era

Precarious Migration: Policy Considerations and Outcomes for Refugees, Temporary Foreign Workers, and the Undocumented

Economic Aspects of North American Immigration:

How Immigration Both Affects and is Affected by Economic Considerations